THE VERNON RECORD

SEMI-WEEKLY

VERNON, WILBARGER COUNTY, TEXAS, MCH. 23, 1920.

NUMBER 20

VOLUME 12

WILBARGER ROADS ARE WORST FOUND ON TRIP TO PLAINS

Value of Improved Highways Impressed When Roads in This County Are Compared With Those of Floyd and Hale—Foard County Piking Some—Letting Other Ways Go.

Roads from Vernon to the line of Foard County were the first found on a trip covering 500 miles and extending through Foard, Cottle, Motley, Floyd, Hale, and Lamb counties, last week. Travelers are generally agreed that it is more tiresome to go to Crowell from Vernon than it is to drive the remaining 175 miles to Littlefield on the Ozark Trails Route in Lamb county.

Some of this is undoubtedly due to the fact that it is more difficult to build and maintain roads in the sand than in tighter ground, and many hope that the additional tax levy recently voted will permit the keeping of Wilbarger roads in better shape. In many places there were holes in the road that made any but the most insignificant progress possible. Many of these holes might have been prevented, it seems to the traveler, by a little filling and packing, and dragging after rains would improve the roadway immeasurably.

It required practically two hours to drive from Crowell to Vernon, a distance of about 37 miles; while the 32 miles from Matador to Floydada (and the first 13 miles out of Matador is across the breaks going up the cap rock) were covered in one hour. After the top of the cap rock is reached, for 15 miles toward Floydada the road runs as the eagle flies. There is no limit to the speed, except in a few places where dragging had been neglected.

Building With Concrete.

Foard county is building a magnificent pike road from Crowell to the west line of the county. Concrete bridges are being constructed and concrete spillways across low or boggy places. The hills are being cut down and grades reduced. In places large quantities of rock have been taken out to give a smooth surface.

Unfortunately Foard county is permitting roads from Crowell this way to go to pieces. These roads were graded and at one time were in first class condition. Holes are already eating up the grade, and while it is still possible to save these roads, if the work is permitted to go undone for a few months it must all be done again. Most of Foard county's farms are apparently this way from Crowell.

Cottle and Motley counties are in the breaks. Both have done some road building, and heavier traffic in Cottle county perhaps accounts for its roads being somewhat worse than those of Motley. There is less sand in these counties, too, which makes it easier to keep up their roads. While the route through Motley county is up and down, good time can be made.

It is on the plains that one finds highways which make traveling possible as fast as the automobile will go. Roads there are easy to build, and the soil holds together well. However, people there apparently believe in building and maintaining good roads. The drag was much more in evidence in Floyd and Hale county than anywhere below the cap rock. It is not difficult to negotiate 100 miles in three hours over their roads.

30 Miles Without a Turn.

West of Plainview, through Olton, the road extends more than 30 miles without a turn. It is amply wide for two cars, and with not enough crown to make a car tend to skid. These roads do not wash as easily as do the ones with higher crown, people on the plains claim.

The South Plains is in what was formerly known as the semi-arid belt. When the Santa Fe built its line into Plainview twelve years ago, the town was a village of perhaps 500 people and the outlying country was out into ranches of from 2 to 500 sections. Plainview is a town of 6,000 people now, with paved streets, remarkably modern business houses, an Elk building planned to cost $250,000.

THIRTY-THREE ARE ADDED TO CHURCH

SPECIAL SERIES OF MEETINGS RESULTS IN NUMBER OF CONVERSIONS HERE.

The special series of meetings at the local Church of Christ, which terminated last Thursday evening, resulted in the addition of thirty-three additions to the church during the meeting, with three others added last Sunday, making thirty-six in all which are attributed to the revival.

The services, which lasted just ten days, were conducted by Evangelist J. S. Dunn of Dallas, and were well attended throughout. Great interest was aroused in church work, according to Pastor Tom Walker of the local congregation, and it is generally felt that the accomplishments of the meetings were extensive and of a lasting character.

WILL INSPECT ROCK AT GRANITE QUARRY

CITY ENGINEER AND REPRESENTATIVE OF PAVING COMPANY ON TRIP.

A. J. Robinson, city engineer, and R. H. Standifer, representative of the H. K. McCollum construction company, Fort Worth, are planning to leave today for Granite, Oklahoma, where they will inspect the product of the state reformatory quarries with a view to determine whether it is of a quality that will be satisfactory for use on the city's contracts for paving.

The paving situation has been held up for months because of the shortage of paving material. Much of the delay has been attributed here to poor railroad service, and the hope is expressed by chamber of commerce officials and others that the return of the transportation lines to private ownership may be expected to improve deliveries of rock to Vernon.

Mr. Standifer preferred not to give out any statement yesterday, beyond saying that the delay was losing money for his company every day, and that the sooner they could go to work the better they would like it.

Should the granite from the Oklahoma quarries prove acceptable to the city it is believed that deliveries can be speeded up to permit paving operations to begin. It is explained that until assurance can be obtained that deliveries will be ample it is not economical to assemble a paving crew and set to work.

Says Grain Needs Rain.

R. L. Moore of Route 1, Oklaunion, says grain is needing rain. He has 750 acres of wheat and about 400 acres of other grain. This is nearly three times as much grain as he had last year, Mr. Moore says.

Married Here Sunday.

Aaron P. Melton and Miss Iva Warner were married Sunday by Justice T. J. Griffiths at his home in Northwest Vernon. Mr. Melton is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Melton of Tolbert, and the bride is a daughter of W. A. Warner, who recently moved to East Texas after having lived in the county ten years, or more.

Inspects Eastern Star.

The E. T. Murchison Chapter No. 423, O. E. S., met in regular session, Friday at the Masonic temple. Business of importance was transacted. Mrs. Hattie E. Beadle of Chillicothe, district deputy grand matron was guest of honor and also inspected the chapter. After the meeting refreshments were served.

CLAIM WILBARGER COUNTY SAVED ON OPEN SHOP LABOR

Committee Representing Chamber of Commerce Declare Unions Make no Concession Even Where Oath of Office of County Authorities Is Involved—Submit Statement.

The open shop committee of the Chamber of Commerce has authorized for publication the following statement:

To the taxpayers of Wilbarger County:

In order that the citizens of the county may be informed of the effect that closed shop conditions have upon their interests we, the open shop committee of the Chamber of Commerce desire to lay before the public the following facts:

Being informed that the county officials of this county had had trouble in obtaining electrical wiring done at the court house on account of certain labor union rules, we investigated and found substantially these facts:

In pursuance to the obligations imposed upon them by their oath of office the officials of the county recently advertised for bids for the contract of painting the court house, and upon opening these bids, awarded the contract to the lowest bidder at a saving of something like $1,100 to the county over the next lowest bid.

At the time of letting this bid the county authorities had no thought of discrimination for or against union labor, nor had they any knowledge of the character of labor to be employed by the successful bidder. The latter, however, was in fact an open shop contractor, and employed certain non-union painters on the job.

Refused to Do Wiring Job.

Subsequently the county authorities entered into a contract for the wiring of the court house with certain electrical connections, the job amounting to about $50, and the contract being taken by a local man. When the electrical contractor discovered, however, that the painting contractor had employed non-union painters, he refused to do the wiring for the county, saying that he could not do so under union rules.

The work of wiring was done through another institution, but the workmen who actually did the work stated to county officials that "had they known that what they termed 'scab labor' had done the painting they would not have performed the services actually performed by them."

The committee feels that it need scarcely be pointed out that these facts show that union labor rules under closed shop conditions make no allowance whatever for the performance by county officials of conditions imposed upon them by their oath of office and that if the contract had been let under closed shop conditions the county would have been compelled to pay at least $1,100 more.

NORRIS STANDS PAT WITH BAPTIST BODY

HAS NO CONNECTION WITH INTERCHURCH WORLD MOVEMENT COMMITTEE.

That J. Frank Norris is not and has not been a member of any committee whatsoever of the Interchurch World Movement of the so-called "findings committee" of the pastors' conference recently held at Dallas, is the statement of Rev. W. T. Rouse, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Vernon, in a statement addressed to The Record.

The occasion of the statement is the publication recently of the report of the "findings committee" as printed by the Dallas office of the Interchurch World Movement, the name of J. Frank Norris appearing as one of the members of the committee and as one of the signers of the report. The copy of the report as published in The Record was furnished by the chairman and secretary of the Wilbarger county Inter Church World Movement organization. The report in question outlined the program of the movement and voiced general and hearty approval of its aims.

The statement from Mr. Rouse is as follows:

A Correction.

To The Record:

In your issue of the 12th inst., is a report of a meeting of six persons held on the 9th inst. in your city. On page two, column four is a matter which incorrectly states the attitude of my friend and brother J. Frank Norris towards the Inter-Church World Movement. If his position concerns anyone it is reflected in the following questions and answers:

1. Did you sign the report of the findings committee as published and sent out by the movement? Answer: No.

2. If you did not sign it, did you authorize any one to sign it for you? Answer: No.

3. Have you either before or after the Conference, accepted a position on the advisory committee or any other committee of the Inter-Church World Movement? Answer: No. I am for church union on the Word of God only, and so is every other Baptist minister.

NORRIS.

In justice to brother Norris, I am asking that you publish this correction.

Your truly,

W. T. ROUSE.

MARYOL TO UPHOLD MAT CLAIMS HERE

VERNON ATHLETE TO WRESTLE RIVAL CONTENDER IN APRIL MATCH.

Vernon is to get her first taste of the manly sport of wrestling during the first week of April when, through the efforts of Al Lewis, a match will be put on here in the Vernon Opera House.

Henry Irslinger, present light-heavyweight champion and holder of the Lonsdale belt, who is now visiting in Wichita Falls, will defend his title against Jean Bothner, light-heavyweight of New Orleans, who has been trying to meet the champion for some time.

Steve Maryol of Vernon, who claims the Texas champion in his class, will meet Young Americas of Nebraska on the same evening. Both Maryol and Americas are heavyweights and have challenged Strangler Lewis. This match will be watched with great interest by all the sport loving public on this account. Both these matches will be contested to a finish and will be put on just as they are in cities where wrestling is an everyday event.

Irslinger will come to Vernon next week and will train here with Maryol until the match is put on here on Wednesday evening April 7.

In the match in which Maryol took part last week in Wichita, Lauder, who was to meet Maryol, missed his train in Fort Worth so that Steve put on only a fast ten minute exhibition match with a light weight wrestler, Joe Sauer of California.

1,000 BARREL WELL IS EXPECTATION ON THE HALE SECTION

Leases Take Big Jump With Texas Pacific on Sand—Two Big Gassers Reported in Territory to South of Vernon—Texas Company Abandons Sixty-Barrel Well 8 Miles From Here.

A thousand barrel well and an extension six miles westward of the producing field in Wilbarger county are freely predicted as the result of findings in the Texas Pacific test, Section 34, block 13, thirteen miles east of Vernon. Local oil men have inspected the well, which is on the Hale farm, and report that the drill entered a rich oil-bearing sand Friday night, and that every indication points to a yield of a thousand barrels daily.

Upon entering the sand a gas pressure was encountered sufficient to blow mud and slush all over the derrick. Arrangements were begun at once to install a star rig to drill in with and complete the well. The depth was given as 1,720 feet, with the drill only five inches in the sand.

Quotations on leasing acreage in the neighborhood of the well have gone skyward. Five hundred dollars an acre at a distance of half a mile is not considered unreasonable, according to oil men here. It is predicted that all leases in this county will be affected favorably by the developments at the Hale well.

Two Big Gassers to the South

The Texas Company brought in Waggoner No. 186 Thursday morning, according to reports received here, for a million cubic feet of dry gas. It is understood that this gas was found at about 1300 feet, this being the level of the Castlebury sand at that location, which is about a mile south of the "Bubbling Well" section 38, block 14. It is said that the drill will be put down deeper in the search for oil as soon as the gas is cut off.

This well is not far from "Old Producer" No. 87, which has been good for 5 to 10 barrels for three years, and which came in originally for sixty barrels.

The Texas Company has also brought in a gasser on section 23, block 14, estimated at 750,000 cubic feet daily. This was being cemented up last week, and will be abandoned.

The Texas Company is also abandoning a sixty barrel oil well, Waggoner No. 184, on section 39, block 14, recently brought in, it is said. The understanding is that the reason for this action is that the company finds it impracticable to build a pipe line to this territory, and that their contract with Mr. Waggoner calls for offset wells on adjoining sections, so that it would cost a half million dollars to drill offsets alone. The company has therefore elected to abandon the wells.

This brings known oil production within eight miles of Vernon, estimating on a straight air line. While the abandonment of the well Texas Company will prevent the yield of the well from being added to Wilbarger's daily production total, the discovery of oil has had its effect on acreage in the county generally.

RECEPTION GIVEN VISITOR BY WOMEN

MRS. T. B. SMOCK IS GUEST OF HONOR AT HOME OF MRS. W. H. HUGGINS.

The women of the County Federation tendered Mrs. T. B. Smock of Wichita a reception Friday night at the home of Mrs. W. H. Huggins on West Paradise street. Mrs. Huggins is president of the federation.

In the receiving line were Mrs. T. B. Smock, Mrs. S. E. Lloyd, Mrs. C. S. Smith, Mrs. H. B. Wilhelm, Mrs. D. H. Henry, Mrs. T. P. Lissman, Mrs. A. A. Honaker, and Mrs. J. V. Townsend. The guests were ushered into the tea room, where Misses Esther Swartwood, Olive Shive, and Mrs. Walter McCaleb, in Japanese costume, served tea. Mrs. Smith is chairman of rural work. Mrs. Lissman is chairman and Mrs. Townsend is secretary-treasurer of the Civil League.

Miss Rhoda Carroll of Kansas City, Mo., who is conducting the Red Cross course in home nursing and hygiene, talked on sanitation and public health. She emphasized the importance of caring for the child.

Mrs. Smock told the women that she found everything in reasonably good condition in Vernon, except that food is not enclosed in dust and fly proof containers. She urged the importance of this, and said that it is a state regulation in the interest of public health.

The following musical program was given: piano solo, Hyacinth O'Neal; piano solo, Frances Marchison; piano solo, Dorothy Piper; vocal solo, Hazel Vaughn; vocal solo, Hyacinth O'Neal.

Ford Taken Friday.

L. J. Blocker lost his Ford touring car Friday night and found it early Saturday. The car was taken from the corner of Texas and Main streets.

Next morning Mr. Blocker was advised that Ford had been left on the road east of Vernon, about two-thirds of the way to Oklaunon. The timer had come off, and it is supposed that the car was abandoned because it refused to go further.

Two boys are said to have been in the car.

This is the fourth Ford stolen in about two weeks. So far no larger car has been taken. Sheriff Ish warns car owners to be very careful about where they leave their cars and in what condition.

Sheriff Ish says he gets from 5 to a dozen notices every day asking him to help find stolen automobiles.

GIVE COUNTY REST ROOMS A CLEANING

EXPECT TO PUT BUILDING IN NEAT AND SANITARY CONDITION THROUGHOUT.

Misses Ohmie Wilcox and Edith Lacy, having first obtained permission from the county commissioners, have set to work to have the county rest rooms for women thoroughly cleaned up. It is planned to repair the plumbing, scrub the floors and windows, re-finish all the woodwork, including tables and chairs and generally prepare the building for the convenience of the women of the county.

The ladies of the clubs in Vernon have signified their willingness to help, and it is hoped through their co-operation to provide curtains, and window boxes for flowers. Mrs. Rena Watts of the W. C. T. U. has been assisting Misses Wilcox and Lacy in their superintendence of the house cleaning.

Don't! Don't! Don't!

Fail to see the Spearman lands in Gaines, Terry and Yockum Counties, on my next trip. Your train fare will be deducted out of your cash payment, if you buy, and almost 100 per cent that look it over good do buy. Most every train brings in from one to seven emigrant cars.

There have been 40,000 acres of this land sold in the past 120 days. This company put this land on the market three years ago at a price of from $10 to $20 per acre, but they retain the privilege of advancing its price, and if they do like most others have already done, they may advance.

There is no question in the minds of those that inspect it that this is far the best proposition in Texas today for the man with limited means who wants to farm or grow stock and own his own home. Only $2 and $2.50 per acre cash down, and balance in seven equal payments at 6 per cent. The first note not due for two years, thereby giving you two crops before you have any to pay on principal, notes payable on or before.

CITY CONTRACTS TO BUY BIG NEW PUMP

WILL SUPPLY FIVE HUNDRED GALLONS PER MINUTE TO VERNON MAINS.

The city of Vernon has contracted to purchase a big new pump for the water-works system of the municipality. The pump will supply five hundred gallons of water to the city mains each minute, according to the capacity rating guaranteed for it by the firm which is selling it.

The contract has been closed with the Hardwicke-Etter Hardware Company of Sherman to supply the pump, which is estimated to cost about one thousand dollars installed.

The city has had the purchase of such a pump under consideration for some time, according to City Engineer A. J. Robinson and Mayor Harry Mason. It is considered that the selection of a centrifugal type over the reciprocating style will effect a saving of nearly two thousand dollars.

It is hoped to have the pump installed in time to take care of the summer demand for water in Vernon.

SAW KILLING FROST JUNE 9.

D. D. McConnell Was in Eastland County and Lost His Way in Sand Storm.

Anent the norther which blew up yesterday, D. D. McConnell believes that the latest date frost ever fell in this section was June 9, 1877. He was in Eastland county, and all green vegetation was killed.

Mr. McConnell was en route to the village of Eastland on horse back. The day was very warm until a norther blew up about dark. The sand clouded the sky so that the rider lost his way and spent the night afoot, holding his pony and walking about in an effort to keep warm until daylight.

Next morning he found that he was six miles south of Eastland on the old Stephenville and Fort Griffin trail. Arriving in Eastland he found the public square full of post oak trees and about a dozen residences. He saw many deer run through the public square of the town.

Mr. McConnell was postmaster at Eastland three years and justice of the peace two years. He came to Vernon in 1886, and was justice of the peace here two years.

INSPECTOR FINDS FOOD DISPLAYED IN OPEN CONTAINERS

Mrs. T. B. Smock Says State Ruling Requires Fruits and Vegetables to Be Shown in Dust and Fly Proof Holders—Says Vernon Above Average in Sanitation.

Showing fruits and vegetables in open containers was the main form of delinquency on the part of local merchants found by the State Health inspector here Friday. Mrs. T. B. Smock of Wichita Falls, city food inspector at that place, graded Vernon. She was accompanied by a committee of the local County Federation.

Stores, eating places, and fountains were visited. They were graded on floors, windows, ceilings, boxes and food holders and carriers, and vegetable and fruit screens. The lack of vegetable and fruit screens was general, and changes which would improve the sanitation was suggested wherever they seemed lacking.

Puckett Bros. was declared the cleanest grocery store. Bargdoll & Stanley's meat market won highest grade in its line. The fountain at the B. & W. Drug Company was graded highest among fountains, as was the Liberty Cafe among eating places.

Mrs. Smock urges that Vernon have a monthly inspection, and stated that the state food inspector would be glad to send a representative here whenever requested to do so.

"Vernon is above the average," Mrs. Smock said. "While a great deal needs to be done to make the town sanitary in every respect, the clean-up campaign committee have things coming its way, and with very little effort Vernon can be made a sanitary town in every respect and attractive in every way."

Mrs. Smock found merchants and other business men receptive to her suggestions, and the women who are interested in making conditions sanitary in every way feel sure that they will have the co-operation of the business men. It seems not to have been generally known that the keeping of fruit and vegetables in covered containers is a state regulation.

UNION SUPPORTER MAKES REPLY TO COFFEE INTERVIEW

Declares Card Men of Vernon in Mood to Look on Open Shop as a Joke, Not Having Noticed Any Change Here Thus Far—Defends Practice of Organizations on Closed Shop Rule.

In replying to R. H. Coffee regarding his statement in the last issue of The Record, it would be well for our contemporary to find out what "efficiency" the contractor in San Antonio used to save the $700 on one job and the means by which he was able to do so. If he wishes to use the same "efficiency" it would be well for the directors of the Chamber of Commerce to send a representative to the Mexican border instead of Dallas to fulfill some of the "open shop" plans.

The writer knows the gentleman who made this statement to the Chamber of Commerce in San Antonio last year and he has never employed anything but cheap Mexican labor. This is very easy to obtain in that city. That did "save" the $700 referred to, but the fact that a Mexican can work for $2 a day and live in a dirty hut with nothing to eat, is why he can figure a job at a lower cost, "without decreasing wages or lengthening hours." Of course not, how can they get an increase in wages when they are not organized or even speak English? This kind of news looks good to some, especially when they cut it out of a pamphlet and republished in a page-ad. There are several in this town that know your "$700 dollar man in the promised land."

Compares Union to Lodge.

Several have wanted to know why a union man would not work with a non-union man. Just take the same thing in another direction, would a lodge take in any man and give him the benefits of all its resources and not cause him to take any obligation whatever in a moral, physical or financial way? Neither will a union man let a man that does not belong to the craft work with him. He does not pay into the union for its good and the well-fare of the old and sick, as the card man does. Take the typographical union and its magnificent home for the old aged and sick, which is maintained by this union at Colorado Springs, Colo., not a fraternal order in the world has a home that can compare with it. After a union printer is too old or sick to work he is sent there and maintained by his fellow men the rest of his life.

As for securing better workmen, that is a farce, although we admit that all card men are not "perfect." But how many skilled mechanics will you find that do not carry a card? A union man has to work four and five years as an apprentice before he is allowed to even stand an examination for admittance to the union, most non-union men are left so, because they are not competent and have not been at the trade long enough. How about the man that applied for a job yesterday on one of the fine residences here, and when asked if he could do finishing work, replied that he could not as he had only done carpenter work in a cantonment last year, but heard they had an "open shop" here and came from Wichita Falls. This same man is still in town if the president of the Chamber of Commerce would like to hire him.

Union Men Have Been Moderate.

The union men of Vernon have been very moderate in their demands, in fact, more so than in many other places, so why not "do unto others as

That Morning Lameness.

If you are lame every morning, and suffer urinary ills, there must be a cause. Often it's weak kidneys. To strengthen the weakened kidneys and avert more serious troubles, use Doan's Kidney Pills. You can rely on Vernon testimony.

Mrs. C. H. Dalmasso, 209 Lexington street, Vernon, says: "I suffered greatly from kidney trouble and rheumatic pains. My back just throbbled and ached all the time and was so lame and sore mornings when I first got up that I could hardly straighten. The muscles in my back and hips were lame and stiff. My kidneys acted irregularly and bothered me a great deal. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills and bought a supply from the Ferguson Drug Store. I had relief from the start and a few boxes of this medicine cured me of the attack."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Dalmasso had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgs., Buffalo, N. Y. Adv 49-12 you would have them do unto you?" That is the best policy and will win in the long run.

It seems by the statement in Tuesday's Record that the "open shop" is in fine working order, but thus far the card men of Vernon have not noticed it at all and are looking on it as a joke.

Let's all get together and work for progress. In no other way can any town progress except for all to pull together, and that can't be done with an "open shop."

Yours for progress,
FLOYD McKNIGHT.

MEMBER.

NO TIME TO BE RABID.

The Frederick Leader took occasion last week to comment editorially on the contest between Oklahoma and Texas for the ownership of the oil lands adjacent to Burk Burnett in the bed of Red River. "It does Texas no honor," The Leader said, "to attempt such high-handed method of enrichment."

If these are not the exact words, the editorial was no less ill-advised. Even though Oklahoma's claim was unclouded calmer council would be more becoming, especially when the spirit of industrial and social unrest is rampant.

Perhaps Governor Hobby's own words are the best answer to The Leader's philippic. He said in part:

"Without a trial to determine the issue of rightful ownership, an Oklahoma federal judge has entered an order, the effect of which is to dispossess the State of Texas of a portion of its public domain * * * and to dispossess a receiver appointed by a Texas court and has enjoined peace officers of the state, who have been sent by me to preserve order and prevent trespassing."

Since the whole question is now pending before the Supreme Court in Washington, the only tribunal which can finally adjudicate the matter, the Oklahoma court's action is the more inexplicable. The only result so far has been to increase the ill-feeling.

INCREASING THE LIFE RATE.

One hundred thousand women have completed the Red Cross course in home hygiene and care of the sick. This means that fewer people will be sick, and of those who contract some disease fewer will succumb. It is the most efficient preventive of disease, and the prevention of disease is incomparably the most effective method of increasing the life rate.

While the enrollment of Wilbarger county has been gratifying, not one-eighth of the women have so far taken the course—perhaps not one-tenth of those who might have done so without any particular inconvenience. To that extent, results must be disappointing. It seems that our women should be vitally interested in any course of study which practically guarantees less sickness and suffering for their loved ones and fewer new made graves.

This is all the more remarkable when it is considered that the course is without cost.

There is only one better place to offer the course in home hygiene and care of the sick than is being done by the Red Cross. That is to the boys and girls in school. What course of study could be more worth while, from any standpoint, to the individual or to society?

WHO KILLED THE TREATY?

David Lawrence, political writer and resident of Washington who keeps the American public informed through copyrighted articles published (at space rates) in the public press, declares that the record of the political parties in the senate has been such that no one can determine certainly whether it was the Democrats or the Republicans who killed the treaty.

Mr. Lawrence's utter confusion over finding a clue to the assassination of the treaty is as pronounced as that of the Scotland Yards representatives when they begin work on a typical Sherlock Holmes case in one of Conan Doyle's novels. But the mystery lies in the confusion, not in the case.

A Democratic president goes to Europe to negotiate a treaty with the powers of Europe; meanwhile Republican senators froth at the mouth and tear their laundry. This Democratic president is the fated and honored abroad; and the Republicans howl that he is at heart a lover of pomp and adulation, fit only for the contempt of the plain American. Then the Democrat sets to the work of the treaty, rolls up his sleeves, and engages in his courageous struggles with age-old greed and jealousies; Republican leaders suck their thumbs and make faces.

Comes the time when the great Democrat comes home with the result of his weeks and months of pleading, fighting, threatening and persuading in the cause of protecting the weak and restraining the strong. Democrats hail him, and Republicans whet their knives. Democrats have all prestige to gain through the passage of the treaty; Republicans have no motive for passing it save only that of patriotism.

Then the lines are drawn. Democrats seek the unqualified adoption of the treaty. Reed and Gore alone are deserters. But Reed and Gore have been defeatists since the days of the Lusitania's sinking. Borah and Johnson greet the treaty with a club. Lodge comes up with a Judas smile on his lips and a Brutus blade in his sleeve. And still Mr. Lawrence cannot tell who is fighting the treaty and who is not.

The reservations come up. The reservations are Republican reservations. They either change the body of the treaty or they do not. If they change it they are unilateral changes in the contract, and as such are fatal to the existence of an agreement and meeting of the minds between the nations in common compact. If the reservations do not change it they are surplus verbiage. Changing the wording of the treaty destroys its force as the agreement of the world, because it makes of the treaty a new treaty which must be resubmitted to the world.

We find in short, the Democrats differing only on the question of how far they can yield to Republicans to save the treaty, and the Republicans varying only on the point of how little can they concede and yet insure its death. And now that the treaty is dead, there is exceeding joy in the house of the Grand Old Party. In the light of that evident satisfaction, it is indeed strange that Mr. Lawrence has such difficulty in finding out who wished the treaty dead and who fought for its life.

BETTER GROW FEED.

Many Wilbarger farmers are confronted with a decision between growing a bumper crop of feed or cotton. The large acreage of cotton last year, together with shortage of labor and heavy fall rains made it impossible to seed many acres to grain.

Perhaps there never was a better time to urge the adoption of a "Grow Feed" slogan, or to shout it out more consistently. The reasons therefor are forcibly set forward in the last issue of The Progressive Farmer. It says:

"In the face of all the present obstacles to our export trade the South is preparing to plant the largest cotton crop possible, with the least feed and food supplies and the highest prices for these supplies in her history."

"If Southern agriculture was ever in a critical stage of its development it is this spring of 1920. With a large cotton crop, and it is absurd to state that we can't produce and gather a large cotton crop under favorable conditions, with high priced feeds to make this crop and a short production of feed crops in 1920 necessitating buying feeds to make the cotton crop of 1921, can anyone fail to see what the results will be to our agriculture and Southern business prosperity?"

"If there ever was a time when those who give thought and study to agricultural questions should exert every effort toward inducing the planting of a large acreage in feed and food crops it is in this year of 1920. In fact, it is now much more important than even during the war."

NEW PAPER STARTS SUNDAY.

R. H. Nichols Advises Will Begin Publication of Amarillo Tribune March 28.

The first number of the Amarillo Tribune will be issued Sunday morning, March 28, according to announcement of R. H. Nichols, president of the Tribune Publishing Company. The Tribune Company has a capital of $100,000. The new paper has an assumed circulation of more than 4,000. It will have full leased wire service, and special correspondents all over Northwest Texas.

Mr. Nichols was associated with The Vernon Record for more than ten years, and was president of Nichols, Brown & Company, publishers of The Record, when he went to Amarillo.

BEAUTY IS AMONG HOME ESSENTIALS DECLARES EXPERT

Miss Ohmie Wilcox Tells Women of Vernon and Wilbarger County How to Create Attractiveness With Flowers and Shrubs Planted Under Proper Surroundings.

(By Miss Ohmie Wilcox)

As spring is here let's begin to think about how our yards can be made more attractive and home-like.

Did you know that the character of the owner of a home is portrayed by the kind of yard he has and the way it is kept? All of you that have read David Grayson's "The Friendly Road," appreciated the way he judged people by their yards, and how these same yards gave him the key to the manner in which he should approach the people who lived in the houses that were in these yards. So, everyday we are judged by our yards and our town is scored by all these home settings taken together.

Every member of the home demonstration clubs is required to do something by way of beautifying their home grounds. In some communities they have a competition to see which member can make her yard more attractive. So, in the same way are the women's clubs banding together on the same project. In some places, the women have selected a certain flower or shrub that shall be planted by all their members, thus making their own town beautiful with their club flower. In Bryan, I think it is, the crepe myrtle has been selected as the shrub to be planted.

Here we find it rather hard to get some flowers to grow, but everyone can either have roses, shrubs of some kind, vines, or flower boxes. If the wind is too strong or the soil in your yard will not grow flowers why not plant your flowers in a box. Then, the box can be covered during bad weather or be taken in the house. The window boxes are very good for planting the flowers for the school-room.

The boxes used for this purpose should be as ample as possible—the full length of the window casing outside, and, at least one foot wide and deep. They should be made of inch boards closely fitted together, so that the sides shall not warp and allow the water to run through too freely, washing out and exhausting the soil.

Holes should be made in the bottom of the box for the escape of surplus water. Broken crock, rocks or other drainage should be placed next to the bottom to prevent the earth working in and obstructing the free passage of water. The surface of the soil should be kept open and center left a little lower than the sides, to prevent the water from just passing down the sides and not soaking all of the soil. Do not crowd too many plants in one box.

Five erect plants and three vines are enough for a box of four square feet. Petunias, verbena, nasturtiums, phlox, and such vines as morning glory, thunbergia, and wild cucumber make attractive boxes. Coleus and wandering Jew or ferns are beautiful together. Paint supports and boxes to match the house.

In making our flower gardens we not only add a great deal of pleasure to our lives, but it has an effect on all that pass by. An editorial in the Farm and Ranch, says "Garden culture was practiced before field culture. Man's beginning dates from the time when the Creator Himself walked in the garden in the cool of the day." We are told that "God planted a garden eastward in Eden and there he put the man he had formed"—"And the Lord said that it is not good that man should be alone; I will make him a helpmate" (probably to care for the garden.)

"Thus the garden was associated with creation and it should continue to contribute to our needs for food, for pleasure, for exercise and for profit. The farm garden has emphasized intensified culture; it has taught valuable lessons of industry, thrift, conservation as well as nature's laws as interpreted by botany, plant physiology, soil physics, also irrigation, drainage and other practices of sound agriculture and horticulture. But most of all we produce tender vegetables, luscious fruits and fragrant flowers in our gardens, and doing this we are adding beauty to the earth."

Mrs. E. P. Hicks, Mrs. W. K. Long, and Misses Bennie and Ina Works spent Tuesday in Wichita where they attended the Style Show.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Wood returned Sunday from a weeks visit in Wichita Falls.

BETTER COFFEE IS SLOGAN NEXT WEEK

PLANS ARE MADE FOR INCREASING INTEREST OF HOUSEWIVES IN BEVERAGE.

March 29 to April 3 has been set aside as "National Coffee Week." It has been arranged by a committee representing the entire wholesale coffee trade of the United States, with the idea that housewives will take advantage of the opportunity to talk with their grocers on the subject of "Better Coffee."

The consumption of coffee in the United States has gained enormously during the past year. Estimates place the increase as high as twenty-five per cent. One statistician has figured out that, based on the records of the New York Coffee Exchange, the people of the United States drank 3,000,000,000 more cups in the last six months of 1919 than in the corresponding period of the previous year.

Dealer's Prize Contest.

To stimulate the retail grocer's interest the wholesalers have offered $2,000 in prizes for the best window displays of coffee during the week of March 29th. The contest is open to all the 300,000 or more retailers in the country, and four sets of prizes are offered for competition in the four districts, Eastern, Southern, Central and Western, into which the country is divided for the purposes of the contest. Coffee roasters and other wholesale dealers are vying with each other in furnishing the retailers attractive posters and other display material for use in the prize contest. The competing window displays will be judged from photographs by the Joint Coffee Trade Publicity Committee of 74 Wall Street, New York City.

The coffee trade also has prepared an industrial motion picture entitled "The Gift of Heaven," which shows the various stages in the progress of the bean from the coffee tree to the coffee cup. This film will be exhibited in the leading theatres of the country during Coffee Week.

Advise to Housewives.

The coffee roasters are urging the retail grocers to impress upon their customers the importance of using fresh coffee, of keeping their coffee pots and percolators scrupulously clean and, furthermore, of not boiling their coffee. Dealers are instructed to tell the housewife that she cannot expect to serve satisfactory coffee if she lets the brew stand on the grounds or if she uses the same grounds more than once. Liquid coffee once permitted to get cold loses certain elements of flavor that cannot be restored by reheating. If coffee cannot be served as soon as it is brewed it should be kept hot, preferably in a double boiler.

The coffee men declare that care in the preparation of coffee is just as important as discrimination in the selection of a blend. There are a multitude of blends on the market, all of which have their partisans. One person may prefer a richly flavored, full bodied bean, while another may want a milder coffee which appeals to the palate quite as much through the sense of smell as through the sense of taste. This question is one which the grocer can help the consumer solve only by letting her try different brands until she finds the one she likes best.

Engages in Insurance Business.

Russel B. Cossey has resigned his position with the First Guaranty State Bank and has taken charge of the local office of the Simmons Farm Mortgage business. He will also do a general insurance business. R. A. West of Iowa Park has succeeded Mr. Cossey at the bank.

Half & Half COTTON SEED

After being grown here for a few years, the lint of Half and Half Cotton acclimates and sells for as high as the Mebane or any other variety of this class while it makes more per acre, and turns out more lint and stands more drouth than any other cotton ever grown in the state.

We challenge its detractors to show different.

Wild and weird were our old delusions WE KNOW THE TRUTH ABOUT COFFEE

We marvel at our old superstitions. It is hard to believe now that more than 30,000 women have been condemned as witches!

Frenzy and prejudice mark the development of progress in many directions. Even coffee—the most popular and beneficial of all beverages,—has not wholly escaped.

Despite the fact that food faddists and temperamental experimists have assailed coffee, it has become the universal drink of this great level-headed nation.

There can be no question about the soothing, nourishing, invigorating effects of good, pure, coffee. It lightens fatigue, sustains energy and aids digestion.

SIGNIFICANT—"The American House-keeper" says:—"Coffee is of great value. It is one of the best aids to the ailing. Coffee is stimulating but not depressing."

A FOOLISH CUSTOM HAS GROWN UP IN AMERICA of buying coffee in a can at a use-pound less waste of 20 to 25 cents per Fresh Roasted Fresh Ground

What you should insist on is Coffee.

Your merchant should protect you against stale coffee in tin and handle the best grades of bulk coffee bought by their true nameGROUND WHILE YOU WAIT.

DECLARES PUBLIC MORALS ARE FIXED BY HOME WORSHIP

Rev. E. R. Barcus Insists Christian Home Is Foundation for Religious Nation — Begins Fortnight of Evangelistic Services Urging Need of Family Prayer.

Declaring that the Christian home is the corner stone of the nation, Rev. E. R. Barcus insisted Sunday morning that the family altar be restored, and that our children be brought up under the influence of Bible reading and communion with God. The sermon was the first of a series of evangelistic services to continue two weeks.

Mr. Barcus took his text from Joshua 24th chapter: "As for me and my house, we will serve the Lord." The Christian home in the foundation stone of all public Christianity," the preacher said. "You can't have a Christian state or any sort of Christianity in public life unless it is in the home life.

"This is God's plan. When God began a race he made one man and one woman, and gave them a home. Christ performed his first miracle at a marriage feast, where the man and the woman were to be united.

"At the flood God told Noah to build an ark to save him and his house, and when Moses was instituting the feast of the Passover, he said, 'I want you to take a lamb, each man for his own house.'

Mr. Barcus declared that the greatest mistake any woman ever made, from her standpoint, was when Pharaoh's daughter found Moses hidden in the bull rushes. She said "I want him to be my child, but I am too busy with the affairs of court to raise a baby," so she sent for one of the despised Hebrew women to bring up her babe.

When Moses came to years he refused to be called her son. The training of his childhood persuaded him to "endure affliction with the people of God." While Pharaoh's daughter made a colossal mistake from her standpoint, it was as great an act of wisdom from the standpoint of God and His people.

The preacher insisted that a boy can not forget the teaching of his mother or of a Godly home. He referred to Abraham and the patriarchs, to Constantine, and the Wesleys, and pointed out how they came from under the influence of homes where the children were taught concerning God and His plan for men.

Mr. Barcus praised the Presbyterian father and mothers for the way they bring up their children, and declared that the church is largely building itself up by means of training the little ones in its beliefs. He insisted that the Catholic church is maintaining its hold on the world because it indoctrinates the children in its beliefs.

"If only the Methodist church could persuade the fathers and mothers to repair the broken down altars and teach their boys and girls holiness around the family hearthstone, we could take the world for Christ," Mr. Barcus declared.

"Who can forget his home?" he asked. "Not the prodigal, who wasted his substance in riotous living; not the old man as he totters to the grave and dreams of the days of his youth; not the poor girl, as she pines under her weary load from day to day. Nobody can forget his home."

Mr. Barcus insisted that revival must begin at home. He urged church members to pledge themselves to repair the family altar or to erect one if they have never held family prayer. At the conclusion of the services many went forward pledging the pastor that they would hold family prayer and read the Bible with their family regularly.

Services will be held every night this week at 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. C. L. Nicholson from Crowell visited relatives and friends here Saturday and Sunday.

STYLE SHOW OPENS AT WICHITA FALLS

MANY FROM OIL CITY IN VERNON SATURDAY TO BOOST EVENT.

A party of eighteen boosters from Wichita Falls was in Vernon Saturday in the interest of the Spring Style Show this week. Those in the party were: C. C. Randle, T. H. Brown, J. W. Walker, J. H. Barnard, Paul Davis, E. R. Fain, H. T. Lamin, L. O. Brown, W. W. Gardner, F. D. Keim, L. D. Ray, H. H. Hamlin, J. S. Clements, T. H. Shell, A. W. Avis, W. U. McCutchen, J. C. Penrod, and E. A. Showers.

The visitors brought a quantity of literature which was distributed over town as a follow up for their advertising in the local press.

"In a few weeks when the new goods begin to get onto the streets, the knowledge will get abroad that it was bought in Wichita Falls," said one of the visitors, "but that the public may see the stocks somewhat in their entirety, that all may have an opportunity of enjoying the fashions as they have come fresh and direct from the markets, and that Wichita Falls and community may realize that its merchants have endeavored to give them the best the special style show has been arranged. Whatever one's tendencies in trading may be or are likely to be, he is invited to visit any or all of the shops and stores during the hours of the reception on Monday night, March 22.

Reception Monday Night.

"To obtain clothes or goods that are better than the city's stores have is simply an impossibility for the best is here. And as truly as the designers and manufacturers have shown themselves artists in the combinations of silks, cottons and ribbons the buyers have done no less worthy work in selection and discrimination. From the cover-all apron of gingham or percale with which the housewife starts the early morning tasks of the day to the handsomest of street suits and evening gowns for the social occasions of her day practically every department store in the city can supply every need in a most satisfactory manner. Then in the smaller shops which make a specialty of blouses or bonnets or boots the owners have concentrated their energies and efforts in bringing to Wichita Falls the things that are newest and best.

"The general reception and open house to the public will be given Monday evening between the hours of 7:45 and 10 o'clock, when merchants and customers, friends and strangers will meet in a fine social spirit, which in its outcome will be a source of great pleasure and benefit to each participant. There will be no sales during the reception."

J. R. Bell of Dallas was in Vernon yesterday on business in conference with insurance men here. Mr. Bell returned today.

Recruiting Party Here.

Sgt. A. Arnick and W. H. Lesly, representing the 37th Infantry, are in Vernon looking out for recruits, will be here through tomorrow.

"We are recruiting for any branch of the army," said Mr. Lesly, when he was seen by a reporter. "Men are taken for enlistments of one or three years. One year enlistments are permissible only in the quartermaster corps, field artillery and engineering and foreign service is possible in the quartermaster department."

The gase pay is $30 a month, plus

"keep." There are any number of allowances for increasing this, however.

The recruiting party is stopping at the Bailey Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Loug from the Thalia community were in Vernon Sunday.

Mrs. Lizzie Denny of Memphis, Texas, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. S. McColloch and relatives of hers in Vernon. Mrs. Denny was formerly a resident of this city.

J. W. Brock, J. N. Fulcher and N. B. Hodge went to Wichita Falls yesterday morning in Mr. Hodge's car to see big league exhibition baseball.

Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Dougherty and Monday from Fort Worth and Dallas where she spent last week visiting friends.

I. K. Williams of Electra and S. H. Williams of Chillicothe were in Vernon Sunday to visit B. A. Williams and family at their home on East Wilbarger.

Standard Cultivators

The Standard Pivot Seat cultivator is the most convenient, most attractive and lightest Pivot Seat Cultivator than any before made.

The frame is very plain all steel construction free of complicated parts. The driver can see straight ahead nothing to obstruct his view of the plants before they get right under him.

The handling of a cultivator whether hard or easy is a great consideration. A cultivator may do good work, but if it not done easily is not satisfactory. The New Standard is made for efficiency, ease and comfort for man or boy.

The wheels are 42 inches high, concave tire, has magazine wheel box and screw cap but requires only one oiling for the entire season.

There are other features but the essential matter is that in the Standard the user will find a cultivator without its equal in any respect.

Do not wait too long as our supply may run out.

and bank deposits only a little less than those of Vernon.

Five years ago there was little development west of Plainview. Now the highway is dotted with farms on which are well-planned homes, big barns, a few shade trees, and nearly always a herd of white face cattle grazing on alfalfa or wheat. There is a great deal of wheat grown on the South Plains. Nor is it necessary to irrigate, as was done considerably a few years ago. Many farms do have a big well, 150 to 250 feet deep, equipped with a centrifugal pump and gas engine which will produce 2,000 gallons, or more, of water a minute. These are seldom used, as rainfall during recent years has been ample to produce abundant crops of grain, grain sorghums, peanuts, broom corn, and some Indian corn. Alfalfa is about the only thing irrigated.

A Blue Ribbon County.

In 1913 Hale county's non-irrigated exhibit at the State Fair won more prizes than were awarded to all of the other counties combined. A year later a similar exhibit at Oklahoma City was given the blue ribbon over an exhibit by the Great Northern Railway, representing five Northwestern States, and another exhibit by the Canadian government. Two years later Hale county wheat exhibited at the World's Dry Farming Congress in Denver, Colo., won first in competition with the world, more than two score nations having exhibits in the show.

Other counties are following close behind Hale. In 1917 Lamb county's exhibit at the State Fair won third place, and agriculture had only just been started. In 1914 Col. Geo. W. Littlefield of Austin started the colonization of a portion of his famous Yellowhouse Ranch and some farmers had settled in the northwest part of the county, near Otton.

Major Littlefield has taken his lands off the market, but other land there is being sold at from $20 to $75 an acre, according to the state of improvement. There are yet big ranches in that part of the state, not for sale. The Spade ranch is 5 miles long and from 8 to 25 miles wide. The Mashed O ranch has nearly 600,000 acres, for which $20 an acre has been refused.

Big Factory Planned.

The town of Littlefield anticipates rapid growth. A potash plant which will employ 1,000 men is on foot, and many of the alkali lakes southwest of the town have been bought. As no stock is being offered for sale, and the promoters are said to represent Littlefield interests with ample funds, it seems reasonable that the plant will be a reality.

It has an unlimited supply of fine shallow water, and modern conveniences together with a high class of citizens. The altitude is about 2800 feet, giving a wonderfully invigorating climate.

Extensive examinations convince that potash is there in ample quantities, and there is much interest in the development of potash mines, since the recent world war. Formerly practically all of the potash came from Germany.

Land around Littlefield varies from comparatively tight land to a good sandy loam, and much of it is being improved. Cotton will be grown extensively, and plans are on foot now for building a gin at Littlefield. Broom corn is also grown, and a broom factory at Littlefield takes care of the output. Wheat made yields as high as 30 bushels to an acre around there last year, and Indian corn made 40 bushels to an acre, although it is doubtful if that crop will become staple as against the grain sorghums.

Northwest of Littlefield about 16 miles the Santa Fe is opening another town known as Sudan. The land here is somewhat more sandy and a little more rolling than around Littlefield. A number of local people have bought land at Sudan, and many farmers are getting ready to put in a crop there another year.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wheatley and Miss Addie Thompson spent yesterday in Wichita Falls attending the Spring style show.

Doans News.

Doans, March 23.—(By special correspondence.)—Mr. and Mrs. M. Young and children, formerly of Coleman, Oklahoma, are here on a visit with Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Blackwood. The women are sisters. They had the misfortune to lose all their household effects by fire, the Sunday that Grandfield was destroyed. They will move in a few days to the Lee Armstrong place.

Mesdames J. S. Rowland and A. S. Ross returned Wednesday from Fort Worth where they attended the Rodeo and the Rebeccah Assembly. Mrs. Rowland was a delegate from the lodge here.

C. F. Doan representative to the grand lodge I. O. O. F. from Doans arrived home Thursday from Fort Worth. He also made a business trip to Dallas to see about shipping a number of bales of cotton there. He was informed much to his disappointment that it would be impossible for the American Cotton Association to accept any more cotton.

J. S. Rowland went to Wichita Falls yesterday to witness the game between the Giants and Red Sox.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Eatmon and family visited with Robert Thompson and family near Harrold, Sunday. Mrs. Thompson is a sister of Mr. Eatmon.

Frank Harrington of Fort Worth and a member of the firm of Harrington and Robinson, visited the McCaleb well Saturday. This well has resumed drilling operations after a fishing job of two months. They went around the tools and have now reached a depth of 1500 feet. The structure is very pleasing to the eye of the geologist, it is said.

Gladys May, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Seidlitz, who has been seriously ill with pneumonia, is recovering slowly.

Mrs. R. N. Elliott has been quite sick this week with an attack of tonsillitis.

So Human ---It Amazed All Vernon

Some of your friends must have been in the huge audience which heard Leola Lucey in her Tone-Test recital at The Vernon Opera House. Ask these people about it. This is the astonishing discovery they made:

The keenest musical ear cannot distinguish any difference between the voice of the living artist and the RE-CREATION of that voice by the New Edison.*

And does it not amaze you, too, that Mr. Edison has succeeded in producing an instrument that captures every subtle sweetness of the human voice—that gives you all the ear can give you of the art of the world's great artists. No other phonograph dares to make this direct comparison.

The NEW EDISON "The Phonograph with a Soul"

The New Edison* alone can RE-CREATE music for you. Come in and hear it for yourself. Make the great discovery for yourself.

*The instrument used in Tuesday's Tone-Test is the regular model which sells for $285 (in Canada $311). It is an exact duplicate of the Laboratory Model which Mr. Edison perfected after spending Three Million Dollars in experiments.

STEAM DRIVEN VEHICLE ANTEDATES GASOLINE CAR BY WHOLE CENTURY

STEAM ROAD VEHICLE OBJECT OF OPPOSITION CENTURY AGO

What kind of autos did they have in 1821? Hear the ready answer: "There were no autos in 1821!" But, as it happens, there were automobiles as early as 1786; in fact, men began to experiment with motor carriages almost as soon as the locomotive engine became known. Between 1821 and 1840 a number of motor road carriages were built by private individuals, mostly clumsy affairs, of course, but practicable as far as they went. All, of course, ran by steam. The actual development of the automobile as we know it, waited on the invention of the explosion motor, and as the first explosion motor were gas engines, there was still another wait, until we had learned to store our fuel in liquid form, as gasoline, and turn it into gas in the engine itself. With the invention of the gasoline engine, the spread of good roads, the development of the rubber tire, and a few other things, the automobile had a clear field before it. But it was no new thing. Says a writer of a leading article in the Universal Engineer (New York, May 1):

"Steam being practically the only known power aside from air, which drove windmills, etc., that very naturally was first used for the automobile, being applied to wheel carriages in 1769 by one Nicholas Joseph Sugnot, a French military engineer. The Ministry of War, at that time having become interested in the invention, the carriage was built with public funds, but was unsuccessful, owing to the difficulty of furnishing water to the boiler, or because of the small size of the same, as it could not run for more than a short distance without stopping to get up steam. It had considerable power, and was credited with breaking down a stone wall in one of its journeys.

"The second machine was a three-wheeler car, the boiler being placed in front and the forewheels driven by a double-cylinder engine. This car is now preserved in the Conservation des Arts, at Paris, and Sugnot may thus be credited with having made the first successful horseless carriage.

"Watt in England was too busy with other work to pay much attention to passenger cars, but applied for a patent for one in 1781, though there is no record of his having followed the matter up. He is said, however, in later years to have been opposed to steam carriages, and would not permit them to pass his residence.

"In 1772 Oliver Evans in America started his investigation of a steam engine, petitioning the Legislature of Pennsylvania in 1776 for the exclusive right to use his invention for steam carriages and flour mills. This was granted in 1787, but the carriage part of it was entirely ignored. The Legislature of Maryland granted a similar petition in 1787.

"Evans is said to have made for the Board of Health of Philadelphia a steam dredging machine, which, when finished was mounted on wheels, and ran by steam from the shop where it was built to the water, a distance of one mile and a half, where the wheels were removed and the boat launched and steam used to turn the paddle wheels.

"William Symington, also an Englishman, who is supposed to have built a carriage in 1786 which gave fair results. No really successful steam motor car was made in England until 1801, when Richard Trevithick produced a crude but practical locomotive which was first tested on Dec. 25, 1801, and ran for several trips.

"Much is due to his experiment, he being the first to introduce exhaust steam into the smokestack.

"From 1821 until 1840 carriages were built for operation on common roads, mostly by private individuals all being heavy and clumsy, not running more than seven miles without stopping to take on fuel or water, though continuing for a short distance at a speed ranging as high as twenty miles an hour. The designer of the celebrated steamship Great Eastern, J. Scott Russell, also built several steam coaches, which were run successfully between Glasgow and Paisley until legislation prevented their further operation.

"Gurney's steam vehicles, built between 1825 and 1832, were fitted with a patent water tube boiler designed by him, and slide valve engines, a feature of the boiler being a series of chambers or separators to prevent priming.

"In 1831 Sir Charles Dance started a steam coach line between Gloucester and Cheltenham, using Gurney's coaches. Determined opposition, however, led to the line being discontinued at the end of four months. Records show that the line made 396 trips, covering 3,644 miles in all, carrying 400 passengers at an expense of $390 for coke, or about 10c a mile."

The House of Commons in 1831 made an investigation of steam carriages and decided that carriages conveying up to fourteen persons could be propelled by steam on common roads at an average of ten miles per hour. The weight would be about three tons, and if properly constructed it was decided that they need not be a nuisance. The greater breaths of fire would cause less wear of the roads than coaches drawn by horses. The House, also predicted that they would become a cheaper and speedier mode of conveyance than the horse-drawn vehicles. To quote further:

"Walter Hancock was without doubt the most successful builder of steam carriages in England at this date, continuing his work up to 1840. * * *

"He is said to have been the first to run a carriage in the streets of London without noise, smoke or appearance of steam, and that did not frighten horses.

"The connection of Colonel Maceroni has been more or less ignored by historians, perhaps on account of his building only two, but those two were undoubtedly among the best of that date.

"His carriage ran with what at that time was considered great speed, often attaining as high as twenty miles per hour.

"Since up to that time a number of successful steam carriages had been built, the question naturally arises why the industry did not have a natural growth instead of dying out completely about the year 1840.

"This was due to a variety of reasons, among them being poor roads, as the condition of roads in Great Britain at that time was very bad, and the excessive vibration caused by the traveling at a fair rate of speed was too much for the machinery. Rubber tires had not been invented and the springs were just beginning to be used.

"The steam carriage was strongly opposed by numbers of country gentlemen, landlords and stage coach owners, as may be understood when it is considered that only recently were automobiles allowed in the select Bar Harbor, Maine, colony.

"This opposition took form in various ways, and it is said no fewer than forty bills were presented to Parliament for the purpose of having steam carriages removed from common roads.

"Another factor opposing steam carriages' progress was the growth of the steam railway, for, following Stephenson's successful run with his locomotive, the Rocket, in 1825, the growth was very rapid.

"In America little or no attention was paid to the motor vehicle up to this time, for while, J. K. Fisher devoted much study to them he was undoubtedly discouraged by the fact that in Great Britain, where roads were somewhat better little or nothing had been accomplished. He, however, experimented on them as late as 1870 without any marked results.

"Other steam carriages were built here, but most were experimental and were not permitted to run on the highways for any length of time. Among these was one built in the early '50s by Richard Dudgeon, which was run for a while in New York City.

"The steam motor car has undergone several periods of regeneration here, but the gasoline car springing up the inventors and capitalists turned their attention to those channels. Although even this industry hardly dates back beyond a score of years, many can remember when Buffalo turned out a two-seated motor car driven by a single cylinder motor of 2 3-4 horsepower, which was considered a great curiosity where now car values running into millions on millions of dollars are turned out annually."

Steels

Make the Maxwell Thrifty

SEVERAL million dollars have been expended to provide more elegance, more refinement, more comfort to the current Maxwells. It is in ever so many ways a superior appearing car; superior, too, in action.

But not a single pound of weight has been added to burden the work of its great engine!

Therefore, despite the many processes of improvement, it doesn't cost a penny more to run a Maxwell than it did a year ago.

The underlying principle of every Maxwell is to give economic transportation.

This means light weight.

But it means strong steels, as well.

It is no easy trick to provide both lightness and strength in metal. Such a rare combination means high cost steels.

And you would find, if you compared a Maxwell with any car, that it equaled that car pound for pound in fine metals.

How such steels affect your pocketbook is obvious.

1. They are light in weight and hence give more mileage on a gallon of gasoline.

2. As they are fine steels they give long and uninterrupted wear.

Which are but two of many reasons for that definite tendency of world-wide friendship towards Maxwell.

In six years nearly 400,000 have found their answer to the motor car question in a Maxwell.

This year 100,000 Maxwells are being produced.

This will supply but 60% of the demand.

UNDERWEIGHT OFTEN FOUND IN CHILDREN

PUBLIC HEALTH NURSE FINDS MALNUTRITION NOT UN-COMMON IN TEXAS.

Austin.—Fifty per cent of Texas children are below weight, declares Miss Pearl N. Hyer, R. N., public health nurse of the Texas Public Health Association. Miss Hyer bases her statement on her thousands of personal examinations of the "kiddies" of the state.

"Malnutrition is the cause of underweight," said Mrs. Hyer. "Many children get too much meat and not enough vegetables. This causes retarded digestion, insufficient lung space, and often makes the children stoop and look deformed. There are from five to six million children in the United States who are suffering from poor food and insufficient sleep—two causes of malnutrition."

The Public Health Nurse declares that children are imitators, and that their parents must set good examples and teach them proper health habits. Too many parents allow their children to eat what they please, she says.

"Many children do not know how to wash their teeth," continued Miss Hyer. "Ninety per cent of the school children have defective teeth. Defective teeth are caused by neglect. Often the first teeth are not attended to, and this tends to make the permanent teeth grow in crooked or to decay. The first set of teeth is an important as the second."

Miss Hyer is going over the state, in the work of the Texas Health Association, examining school children in ward and normal training schools, and demonstrating school, home and community nursing. In her children are seven per cent below the normal weight for their height, they are retarded one year in their normal development.

NEW PAPER STARS IN WICHITA FALLS

The Union Citizen Will Be Published
By Trades Council Every Thursday

"Co-operation, open diplomacy, better understanding" is the motto of The Union Citizen, the initial issue of which was published in Wichita Falls March 18. It will be issued every Thursday. A committee of the Central Trades is Editor-Manager, and the subscription is $1 a year.

One of the leading stories of The Union Citizen is the announcement that a community store is to be established in the basement of the labor temple. This is a part of the activities directed against the high cost of living and for the purpose of eliminating all unnecessary profit.

The store will be controlled by a board of trustees and no dividends are contemplated. To provide for the initial capital required to start operations, subscriptions to payments for groceries and staples in advance are being received by the committee. When a total of not less than $2,000 has been received arrangements will be made for the immediate opening of the store.

Urges Giving Cow a Square Deal

When the average farmer who keeps an average cow and is accustomed to feed her in the average way changes his way of thinking a bit and divides with the family cow, the corn and oats which he has heretofore thought the mule had a birthright to, and at the same time gives her an abundance of good legume hay grown on his own farm and at least gives her enough feed in such a variety as will insure her an equal standing with his mule and hound dog in bodily flesh and physical condition—when that day comes, the family cow will produce most wholesome food in greater quantities, also more economically, and then it can truthfully be said that the family cow is coming into her own in the South.—A. C. Krimery in Progressive Farmer.

LET RURAL PEOPLE HAVE CITY LIBRARY PRIVILEGES

It is said that motion pictures and other modern-day amusements are reducing the number of city people who use a public library. Whether this is true or not the library has a virgin field, one as yet scarcely scratched, in which it can extend and that is the country. Here, what it offers to the public will be eagerly welcomed and read. For the possession of a new book in many country localities is an event, and it is lent from home to home until it has been read and reread by all the booklovers in that locality.

Every public library in the cities and towns that is not legally restricted from extending its book-borrowing privilege outside of the city or town limits, should give it to the people in the surrounding country districts.

Many of the libraries now restrict their service to people whose names appear in the city directory, or who are vouched for by known citizens. But unless the library is supported entirely by the city taxpayers it would seem that the country people have just as much right to library privileges, because they are part of their community and their well-being contributes to the prosperity of the whole. Even where the privileges are open to country people, full use is not always made of them, because these privileges are not generally known. In such cases much can be accomplished by notifying the county agent, the county farm bureau, or other farmers' organization, or by items in the local newspapers. The county and traveling libraries are available in many communities and their use should be encouraged. Sometimes neglect to do this is through lack of information regarding them and sometimes it is because of the lack of someone to take the initiative in the matter.

This is the season when the long winter evenings make reading a delight in the country home. Books—good books, the kind that live beyond the month—will prove a boon at many a fireside. But books, like most other things, are expensive now, and this fact opens to the city library an opportunity to extend its usefulness and make friends for its city.

Every city library should have its quota of country patrons when the farmers come to town on market days.—Special Information Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Hawaiian sunshine and Hawaiian climatic conditions in general, combine to produce the best pineapples in the world.

Maine's peculiarly adapted soil and northerly temperate weather grow remarkably tasty corn in that state.

Tea grown by the natives of Ceylon and British India is quite without equal in the world, taking into consideration its preparation and preliminary careful cultivation.

And so on through the long list of things which you may have on your table from day to day.

Not alone have wonderful developments in transportation facilities made this possible. Great steamers plying between widely separated ports and fast trains covering thousands of miles of steel track could never have placed these things at your beck and call without another great factor directing their energies.

Behind it all there is the Boren-Stewart Company, directed by an inclination to serve, for by serving we succeed.

ONLY TWO BALLS HIT TO OUTFIELD

VERNON HIGH SCHOOL WINS
FROM FREDERICK BY SCORE
OF 13 TO 1

Only two balls were knocked to the outfield in the game Friday between baseball teams representing the Frederick, Okla., and Vernon high schools. It was the first game of the season, and the score at the end of the game was 13 to 1 in Vernon's favor.

The difference in the score is more than a summary of the game would seem to warrant. Frederick is credited with five hits, five errors and one run; while Vernon made only thirteen hits, and is charged with two errors. Cabe of Vernon and Kendall of Frederick are each credited with a two base hit. The Vernon boys seemed to hit when they had men on the bases, and the local pitcher held the Oklahomans hitless when a hit meant a run.

Wallace Baird, pitching for Vernon struck out ten men. Tallison of Frederick fanned seven. Each pitcher hit one man. Baird gave one base on balls, while Tallison gave three.

The game was played on the local County Fair grounds. The two teams will meet in Frederick April 3. Vernon is trying to get another game with some team for Saturday.

Following is the line-up: Vernon—Smith cf, Dalmasso 3b, Johnson ss, Curtis c, Small lb, Hiatt rf, Douglass lf, Baird p; Frederick—Guthrie cf, Hammond ss, Benard lb, Warrall c, Coursey rf, Schrick lf, Kendall 3b, Tallison p, Maynard 2b.

EAST VERNON WINS HERE AT BASKET BALL GAME

East Vernon defeated the Farmers Valley basket ball team Saturday by a score of 42 to 2. The game was played on the local high school grounds. This game was played in the elimination contest for the county intercollegiate meet.

Following is the line-up: East Vernon—Oren Baker and Harold Bowman, guards; Carroll Bowman and Robert Sullivan, forwards; Floyd Burchfield, center; Farmers Valley—Rolla Randal and Horace Daughtry, guards; Addison Rich and Ralph Randal, forwards; Ivan Davis, center.

WAS IRISH—BUT DIDN'T KNOW GREEN WHEN HE SAW IT

Cincinnati—An Irishman who can't tell green when he sees it was rejected for enlistment in the U. S. Marine Corps here today, for defective color vision.

James Patrick O'Hara, born in the County Cork, insisted on picking brown skeins of yarn when told to select the green ones.

"What color is the grass," ventured the examiner, "isn't that green?"

"No," replied the color-blind Irishman, "its color is not green, people call it green because it is young and tender, but its color is brown."

Mr. and Mrs. John Brown are rejoicing over the birth of a 10-pound boy, born Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Landrum spent Saturday and Sunday with his mother in Altus, Okla.

Wanted—Nice clean, cotton rags at the Record office. Don't bring any old stockings or woolen pants. 1tc

HOW TO SHADOW TURKEY HEN TO HER STOLEN NEST

Given free range, turkey hens usually secrete their nests in obscure places, such as patches of weeds, tall grass, or bushy thickets, and often wander a half-mile or more from home before they find places that suit them. To find these "stolen" nests is often a long and tedious task, the usual method being to follow each turkey hen as she separates from the flock and starts toward her nest, taking care that she does not know she is observed. A much easier and quicker method than this is to confine the hens early some morning soon after they have come down from roost and let them out late in the afternoon. Those that are laying will then head straight for their nests in order to lay the eggs they have been holding.

If attractive nesting places are prepared about the barnyard, turkey hens sometimes lay in them. In the North, where the laying season often begins while there is still snow on the ground, they are more likely to select their nests near home than is the case in the South, as they do not range far during cold weather.

Nests are easily made from boxes or barrels, or by scooping out a little earth in the shape of a shallow bowl and piling brush around it to satisfy the hen's desire for seclusion. Of all nests, however, the one preferred by turkey hens is a barrel laid on its side and a nest shaped in it with straw or hay, according to United States Department of Agriculture poultry specialists. When only a few turkeys are kept it is the usual custom to allow them free range throughout the breeding and laying season. If many turkeys are kept, however, it is usually found most convenient to use breeding pens or enclosures, in which the turkeys are kept until they have laid their eggs for the day, letting them out late on each afternoon. When confined to a breeding pen several turkey hens often lay in the same nest, but on free range each hen usually makes her own nest.

Pat's Discovery
Strolling along the quay of New York harbor, an Irishman came across a wooden barricade which is placed around the enclosure where immigrants suspected of suffering from contagious diseases are isolated.

"Phwat's this boarding for?" he inquired of a bystander.

"Oh," was the reply, "that's to keep out fever and things like that, you know."

"Indade!" said Pat. "O've often heard of the Board of Health, but, bejabers, it's the first time O've seen it!"—London Tit-Bits.

Doans Man Says Rain Would Help

A good rain would benefit the Doans country, according to C. C. Ammons, who was in Vernon Saturday. Mr. Ammons says most of the cotton has been picked, and farmers are getting ready to plant their spring crops. He thinks there will be very little grain around Doans this year, but a large acreage of feed and cotton.

MARKET REPORT PRICES REPRESENT ACTUAL SALES

The prices quoted in market reports, supplied by bureau of markets, U. S. department of agriculture, represent actual sales, not prices asked or quotations given, or predictions as to probable future prices. Hence, it may be that on a rising market the prices quoted may seem low when the reports are received and, vice versa, on a declining market the prices may be high by the time the reports are received.

Quotations usually represent the condition of the respective markets up to approximately 9 a. m., local time, but reports are not issued until about noon.

In many important markets it would be impossible to get car-lot quotations because very few or no cars are sold intact by the original car-lot receiver in that market to the local jobber, hence there would be no basis for actual sales upon which to report a car-lot price. In most important markets, however, there is a fairly defined jobbing trade which buys at the prevailing jobbing price for the day.

Returns to a grocer or shipper who may have consigned a shipment to a commission merchant are usually made on a basis of the jobbing price, received from which, of course, the freight commission, and other expenses are subtracted. Hence shippers of consigned products are usually more interested in a given market than in car-lot price quotations.

GOVERNOR MAY CALL SPECIAL SESSION

CONTROL OF PINK BOLL WORM SEEMS TO BE MOST IMPORTANT MATTER

More adequate regulation of the pink boll worm seems to be the most important factor under consideration by Governor Hobby for calling a special session of the legislature, which it is rumored he will call together in a few days. The following statement has been sent out from Austin:

The United States department of agriculture in a letter to the governor said that a quarantine against the movement of cotton and cotton seed from Texas into neighboring states would probably be declared unless more adequate steps to control the spread of the pink boll worm are taken.

The department of agriculture said that the federal horticultural board has declared that the only method of exterminating the pink boll worm in Texas is to cease growing cotton in the infected zones for two or three years, and the chairman of the board pointed out that the continuation of regulated zones in lieu of non-cotton zones in the regions actually infested with the pink boll worm would amount to practical abandonment of efforts of Texas to eliminate the insect.

Urges Prompt Action.

The department continued that prompt action by Texas will do much to limit the need of drastic quarantine action, both state and federal, and recommended that Texas establish non-cotton zones and make provisions to compensate planters affected for their net losses resulting from this action. A tax upon cotton products was suggested as a method of raising the reimbursement fund. The governor was urged to "give careful consideration to the advisability of calling the legislature into extraordinary session at an early date" to consider these matters.

Regarding the proposed quarantine,

Secretary Meredith said:

"Unless adequate steps are taken by the state in the near future to deal effectively with the situation, I am compelled to say that the department will be forced to give prompt consideration to the necessity of exercising the authority given in the plant quarantine act by placing a quarantine on the state of Texas which will probably prohibit the movement of cotton and cotton seed from that state to other states, except under such conditions of disinfection as now apply to all cotton imported into the United States. This quarantine will also necessitate restrictions on the movement of all freight out of Texas similar to the restrictions imposed at the present time on the freight from Mexico into Texas, namely, inspection, and enforcement of the cleaning of all cars and the freeing of all freight, other than cotton, from any contamination with cotton seed."

The governor has not decided as to action to be taken upon those recommendations.

C. M. LADD WRITES OF DELCO MEETING

At the Delco-Light convention in Dalton, Ohio, writes C. M. Ladd, local Delco-Light dealer, they have a search light of one billion candlepower, mounted on the roof of one of the Delco-Light buildings. This search light, Mr. Ladd states will throw a bright light on clouds seven miles high. These lighted clouds, he adds are visible for a good many miles from Dayton and some of the Delco-Light dealers on their trip to the Dayton convention said they could see this light on the clouds at night, almost three hundred miles away.

Many dealers stayed up late on the night they neared Dayton and watched the weird streak playing across the sky miles ahead of them, marking their destination.

At the theater party given for the visiting Delco-Lights men Thursday night, the play presented was produced exclusively for the Delco-Light organization, and while it contained some features of special interest to the men, it was in the nature of a musical comedy, with theatrical talent, costumes and scenery all brought on from New York especially for the entertainment of the visitors.

Plans outlined at the Convention on Friday, says Mr. Ladd indicate still greater activity and advancement in the field of electricity for use in the country than has ever been experienced in any previous years.

PAIGE

THE MOST BEAUTIFUL CAR IN AMERICA

THE driving compartment in the Larchmont four passenger model is a revelation to most people—a blessing to the man behind the wheel. It was designed for luxurious ease and that means there is arm room, elbow room and leg room in abundance.

Most cars, you know, are obliged to compromise on seating space—but not the "Larchmont". It was designed to make four people supremely comfortable, and a combination of long wheel base and closer coach work has accomplished just this result.

Urges Giving Cow a Square Deal
When the average farmer who keeps an average cow and is accustomed to feed her in the average way changes his way of thinking a bit and divides with the family cow, the corn and oats which he has heretofore thought the mule had a birthright to, and at the same time gives her an abundance of good legume hay grown on his own farm and at least gives her enough feed in such a variety as will insure her an equal standing with his mule and hound dog in bodily flesh and physical condition—when that day comes, the family cow will produce most wholesome food in greater quantities, also more economically, and then it can truthfully be said that the family cow is coming into her own in the South.—A.
